Christine: Hey Barrett - pitches will start the week of the 20th - hoping I can grab you one more time on Skype early next week - I just want to talk a little more about your methodology (not so much the particulars of your projects, but more generally why you may prefer outside-the-box approaches) me: no problem, I'll be around so just let me know what day and time Christine: Sweet. I will let you know by Sunday night - hoping to be done with another project by then
